

Developing Ourselves

Important points:

- Letting go of tidy centers in your room.
- Having a place that can sometimes be disorganized to the adult, can be a den of creativity for the child.
- Consider, combining centers in your classroom, such as science and blocks, housekeeping and manipulatives and watch how the children use the materials. Consider: whose need are you filling? (the child's or your own)